In keeping with tradition

Some things may be thousands or several hundred years old – but they cannot be significantly improved. However, they can be continued at the highest level: That’s why we like Steiff’s manufacturing concept so much. “Manufacture” as an old Latin term: “manus”, the hand, “facere” to do, build or produce something. And if this thought, this concept hadn’t already existed, we at Steiff would surely have invented it. Creating something with your hands. Allowing skill, experience and craftsmanship to flow into the creation process. Bringing in passion, commitment and lots of love for detail into the creative process – in order to bring something extraordinary and unique to life. But that’s what it is: For us, manufacture is far more than just a fashionable word. Because, true to the spirit of our founder Margarete Steiff, we are fully committed to not only honour the tradition of manufacture, but to continually imbue it with new life. Day after day. With every animal leaving our company so steeped in tradition.

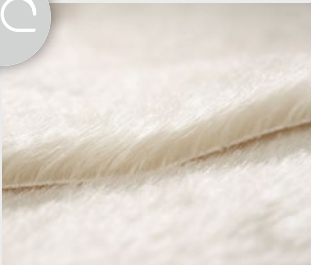

Millimetre by millimetre and thread for thread: simply the best.

Those wanting to create something special and unique of lasting value will need nothing less than the perfect “ingredients”. This not only applies to many other areas but especially to our Steiff manufacture, where we only use “ingredients” of the highest quality: for every Steiff animal, from head to paw. Starting with the thread, the filling material, buttons, eyes and accessories and right up to what is so characteristic for every Steiff animal: it’s “coat” or “fur”, which gives character and form to its appearance. So since 2009 we have been particularly happy to be able to call ourselves the world’s only manufacturer of stuffed toys with its own fabric factory.

Alpaca – soft, silky, opulent

Although the number of alpaca animals in the Steiff range has increased in recent years, the company discovered the material many years ago. Its resurgence in popularity is due to its wonderful feel and tremendous versatility. Alpaca can be used to create both soft Teddy bears and ultra-realistic animals.

Mohair – lustrous, shiny and sleek

This natural material from the wool of the angora goat is the classic Teddy bear material. In fact, it was used for the first Teddy bear ever created. The fibre is both beautiful and durable, which accounts for the amazing number of vintage Steiff creations that appear today in superb condition.

Perfected unique specimen

Characteristics which turn a brand into a legend.

We at Steiff also have good reasons to be proud and happy: after all, the Steiff “Button in Ear” is one of the world’s most renowned trademarks. This world renowned trademark, our “Button in Ear” with the Steiff ear tag, stands for something special, so rare in the hectic days of today: Craftsmanship and creativity, which have firmly established roots and can paint a smile for the future with incomparable designs and innovative products. All Steiff animals from our Collectors’ range are creations of the highest standard, and recognizable by the immaculate workmanship, the quality of the materials, the love for minute details and the legendary trademark: the Steiff “Button in Ear”.

Replicas

The Teddy bears and animals of the replica series by Steiff are a very special and extraordinary species. This means that these true-to-original animals are reproduced exactly according to their historic role models from the Steiff Archives. In order to document this special status, all Steiff replicas have the faithful “Button in Ear” indicating the year in which they were made and, since spring 2017 onwards, a replica ear tag as well. In future, the previous white tag with black lettering will be sewn into the side seam of the product and will contain the article and limited edition number.

Limited Editions

All the animals and Teddy bears at Steiff are very pleased to receive the extraordinary distinction of the white ear tag with red writing because these are produced in a limited edition. This means that only a limited number is available and some are available only in certain countries.

Replicas

A past to touch, experience and love.

It is a fascination which has already made history. A fascination of the here and now – and a fascination with which each and every Steiff friend and collector is continued into the future: the fascination of Steiff replicas. Each and every Steiff animal and Teddy bear has its very own personality, which has its very own story behind it. And this story it would like to tell to its owner and share it with them.

Each Steiff Teddy bear of the limited replica edition is a fascinating entity, an entity which brings the flair of the past into the now: because each replica Teddy bear, from head to paw, fibre for fibre, seam for seam is a faithful recreation of the very first Teddy bear from the very first day. The Teddy bear is lovingly handmade and decorated with traditional tools and in accordance with the original design – as only in this way can nothing but perfection be the result.

New since spring 2017

To further emphasise their special status, all replicas as of this year will “bear” – in addition to the faithful “Button in Ear” – a replica ear tag in their left ear indicating the year in which they were made.

Limited Editions

Particularly beautiful. Particularly rare.

Welcome! The Steiff animals from the limited editions welcome you to the Club of Rarities and Special Beauties. How they become members of this exclusive circle? Well, they must have a very distinct, striking personality, these warm, bright and honest eyes, with a penchant for making themselves scarce – and remaining so. That’s why we are also a little proud that the “limited” attribute of our animals from our factory also always means “especially desirable” for Steiff friends and collectors. The animals from our worldwide limited special editions always find new friends, owners and a new home particularly fast.

Licensed pieces 2018

Diversity and imagination characterises the Steiff range and similarly in the field of licensed products. Licenses entitle us to interpret individual figures - for example, the heroes of famous cartoons who then become unique characters in our range. The result: Enthusiasts recognise their heroes at first glance. They are fascinated by how authentic Steiff figures represent the original. And the world of Steiff is enriched by the combination of countless impressions of the heroes of comic books, fairy tales and stories. The result is a winning one! We are pleased to be able present special licensed products again this year.

Behind every good Road Runner is...well, a coyote...Wile E. Coyote, to be specific. The creators originally intended the cartoons to be spoofs of other cartoons; instead they became successes in their own right.

Jones considered many alternatives before deciding on the coyote and roadrunner characters. Jones as a child had read Mark Twain's book, "Roughing It," which contained an entire chapter on jackrabbits and coyotes (ergo, Wile E. Coyote).

In "Operation:Rabbit," the coyote is featured with a new adversary - Bugs Bunny. This was one of the few appearances in which Wile E. speaks, alas, to no avail. Bugs still manages to elude the persistent coyote.

Legend has it that Jones was motivated to continue the series after receiving a letter from a Naval Air Force captain stating that his flight training pilots were calling "Beep! Beep!" to each other during maneuvers.

Road Runner continued to be Wile E. Coyote's target in the majority of his remaining cartoons. Wile E. persists in pursuing Road Runner even after his efforts have been thwarted time and time again.

Animation director Chuck Jones and writer Michael Maltese sifted through many alternatives before arriving at the Road Runner character, who would be chased by coyote. The prevalence of roadrunners in southern California provided impetus to the creation of a cartoon about the funny little birds called road runners. Road runners can run about 21 or 22 miles an hour. "They spread their little stubby wings and shoot up to the top of a big swirl of cactus and vibrate to a stop," Chuck Jones recounted. "I always thought they were funny- funny by the way they move, not by what they look like." Enter the Coyote, who is always hungry, and the chase is on. Wile E. Coyote tries every means he has to trap the Road Runner. Despite Wile E's determined tinkering, Road Runner always manages to outmaneuver him. Whenever the chase gets close, Road Runner delivers a well-timed "Beep! Beep!" unfurls his little tongue, steps up the power and shoots away.

FANTASTIC
AND WHERE TO FIND THEM

The Demiguise is a primate-like creature that resembles a silver-haired orangutan with large, doleful black eyes. It has the remarkable ability to become invisible at will, and has precognitive sight, so the only way to catch it is to do something completely unpredictable. The Demiguise is fundamentally a peaceful beast, but it will give a rather nasty nip when provoked or feels threatened. Unfortunately for the Demiguise, its long, silky, silvery hair can be spun into Invisibility Cloaks, making its pelt highly valuable.

The sprig-like Bowtruckle can be immensely difficult to spot in a natural environment as it is not only very small but also can easily blend into any foliage. It appears to be made out of a tree stem with roots, tiny leafy branches and two brown eyes. Newt has at least six of these little beasts – named Pickett, Titus, Finn, Poppy, Marlow and Tom – though he can't help but play favorites with Pickett, whom he keeps safe in his breast pocket. The Bowtruckle, which eats only insects, is a peaceable and intensely shy creature.

And indeed, in the next clown's act, little Dumbo surprises everyone and flies! When the elephant came to the cinema in 1941, he captured many hearts, including the Oscar® jury. Good-natured but scatterbrained, Disney's cartoon character Goofy is well loved the world over! Goofy first appeared, somewhat disguised, as a member of the audience in Mickey's Revue (1932). Goofy was distinguished from those around him not so much by his languid appearance but his raucous laugh. That laugh created such an impression on Walt Disney that the character was soon featured in other cartoons. Before long, Goofy was part of the gang that included Mickey, Minnie, Pluto, Clarabelle Cow, and Horace Horsecollar. There were 49 Goofy cartoons, but he also appeared in many cartoons with Mickey Mouse and Donald Duck, as well as more recent television series and videos. He is best known for his series of "How to" cartoons, where the audience laughed at his bumbled explanations and antics. Well, who wouldn't laugh, "Gawrsh" everyone knows and loves Goofy!

PADDINGTON™

Mrs Brown bent down. "You're a very small bear," she said. "I'm a very rare sort of bear," he replied importantly. "There aren't many of us left where I come from." "And where is that?" asked Mrs Brown. "Darkest Peru".

Michael Bond based Paddington bear on a lonely Teddy bear he noticed on a shelf in a London store on Christmas Eve 1956, which he bought as a present for his wife. The bear inspired Bond to write a story; A Bear Called Paddington - first published on 13 October 1958. Little could he have known then how many people from around the world would come to know, love and adore his small bear from darkest Peru. "Paddington is eternally optimistic and always comes back for more, no matter how many times his hopes are dashed," "It's simply the joy of a little bear who is an outsider getting into scrapes and mishaps - always with the best of intentions - and coming out on top every time." Michael Bond

To celebrate the marmalade-loving BAFT nominated bear's 60th anniversary Steiff are honoured and thrilled to offer two winning designs.

Our first Paddington pays homage to Peggy Fortnum, the first illustrator to draw Paddington Bear for Michael Bond's children's books. She was commissioned to illustrate the first volume of adventures, A Bear Called Paddington, in black and white line drawings, in 1958, and worked on the next eight Paddington books. Her illustrations made the idea of a bear from Peru arriving at Paddington station with a suitcase and being adopted by an ordinary family seem perfectly reasonable. This special anniversary Paddington comes complete with a specially commissioned 60th anniversary logo.

Abraham Lincoln Teddy bear

Item no. 683367, 32 cm

made of finest mohair, cinnamon,
5-way jointed, surface washable,
with melody (Battle Hymn of the republic),
limited edition of 1,000 pieces,

Whether Democrat or Republican, both scholars and the public regard Abraham Lincoln as one of the greatest Presidents in U.S. history. In honor of this revered leader, Steiff proudly presents the next edition in our ongoing series of "Great American Teddy bears". Following in the footsteps of his worthy predecessors, "Honest Abe" features a music box that plays a patriotic tune - "The Battle Hymn of the Republic". He's sewn from a cinnamon mohair and has light airbrushing for a vintage feel. He wears an antiqued collar and deep maroon silk tie. And of course, no Lincoln tribute would be complete without his signature "stovepipe" hat. Whether you're a long-time collector of the "Great American Teddy Bear" series or a newcomer, we're sure you'll agree that no collection is complete with Abraham Lincoln from Steiff.

Year of the Dog

white/black, standing,
1-way jointed (head),
surface washable,
limited edition of 1,500 pieces,

He looks at his world with rapt attention. And doesn't miss a thing. The white and black terrier "Year of the Dog" is a typical four-legged friend ... Dogs are great at empathising – once they have made friends with someone, they will stick with them through thick and thin. Similarly, people born in the Year of the Dog are also described as devoted, helpful and responsible. The year 2018 will bring forth lots of these people. To these and everyone else who falls under this star sign, we dedicate the terrier with the red leather collar and gold-plated "Button in Ear" – after monkey and rooster, this is the third article in the Zodiac series.

Asterix & OBELIX®

Asterix® Obelix® / ©2018 Les Editions
Albert René / Goscinny - Uderzo

Determined to make Asterix an anti-hero flying in the face of the established order of the world of comic books, René Goscinny certainly did not want to give his main character a sidekick who would play the classic role of stooge. But Albert Uderzo, somewhat frustrated at not having made Asterix a beefy Gaul like he dreamed, could not resist placing at his side a big strong warrior, more akin to the impressive muscle-bound characters he already excelled at drawing. Although he had only a minor role in the first adventure, Obelix quickly became an essential character that his authors developed as they went along. He is actually the readers' favourite hero: all opinion polls place Obelix at the top of the list of favourite village characters. In the adventures penned by René Goscinny and Albert Uderzo, we find him by turns easily offended, sensitive, and definitely a glutton. An overgrown child who grew up too quickly and who is not yet aware of his own strength. In his defence, it must be said that not everyone falls in a cauldron of magic potion when he's a little boy!

Horst Lichter Bär

Item no. 674471, 34 cm

made of finest mohair, antique brass,
5-way jointed, surface washable,
limited edition of 555 pieces,
with gold-plated "Button in Ear"

Handlebar moustache, metal-rimmed glasses and a herringbone flat cap on his head – no, it's not celebrity chef Horst Lichter, at least not in person. Rather, it is a Steiff creation that "bears" more than a passing resemblance to the popular German TV chef and author.

The Horst Lichter bear is 34 cm in size and comes in a limited edition of 555, available only in Germany.
